Transportation_Control_Number_(TCN)_PDS	Business Rule	A new TCN will be created each time a shipment enters the transportation pipeline. In many shipments, TCNs begin with a Department of Defense Activity Address Code (DODAAC). The 17 character TCN is essentially a four-part number composed of a DODAAC, Julian date, serial number, and suffix. The first three parts of the TCN for Military Standard Requisition and Issue Procedures (MILSTRIP) shipments are normally the requisition number, found on such documents as the DD Form 1348-1A, Issue Release/Receipt Document, (See Figure 202-5), DD Form 1149, Requisition and Invoice/Shipping Document, (See Figure 203-1), or a contract. For most other shipments, the TCN is constructed in the same standard four-part format. 2. However, the construction of a SEAVAN TCN differ slightly from the standard by inclusion of a voyage document number instead of a Julian date and by using the suffix to identify container service payments responsibility and the container type. There are two ways available to book a shipment for a SEAVAN. The first method is when a shipper goes straight to the carrier's website and books directly with them. The second method is when the shipper uses the Integrated Booking System to book a shipment. When using this method, the TCN is assigned by the Water Clearance Authority (WCA)/Ocean Cargo Clearance Authority (OCCA). The personal property TCN has a totally unique construction derived from the sponsoring member's/employee's Service, social security number, shipment pickup/turn-in date, and the type of personal property being shipped.

Country_ISO_Change_Code	Data Domain	Specific domain as established by ISO 3166-3, which represent names of former/non-current countries which have been divided, merged, or changed in name. The definition of the term "formerly used country name" is: name of a country, dependency, or other area of particular geopolitical interest removed from ISO 3166-1 since the first edition in 1974. There are several different reasons why entries can be removed from ISO 3166-1. For example, they can be removed when: a country changes a significant part of its name; a country is divided into two or more new ones; two or more countries merge. The code format for formerly used country names has a length of four alphabetical characters (alpha-4 code elements). The first two characters are the original alpha-2 code element representing the former country name removed from ISO 3166-1. Characters three and four are allocated according to rules established in ISO 3166-3. Some sample instances are as follows: The name BURMA (BU) was changed to MYANMAR (MM) in 1989. The code element for the formerly used country name for BURMA is BUMM; The country CZECHOSLOVAKIA (CS) was divided into CZECH REPUBLIC (CZ) and SLOVAKIA (SK) in 1993. The code element for the formerly used country name CZECHOSLOVAKIA is CSHH. HH meaning that no single successor country exists; The countries DEMOCRATIC YEMEN (YD) and YEMEN ARAB REPUBLIC (YE) merged into REPUBLIC OF YEMEN (YE) in 1990. The code element for the change would be YDYE.

OMB divides these major classes into smaller classes and presents them in the Budget Appendix in object class schedules. The object classes present obligations according to their initial purpose, not the end product or service. For example, if you pay a Federal employee who constructs a building, classify the obligations for the employee's wages under Personnel compensation and benefits, rather than Acquisition of assets. If you purchase a building, classify the contractual obligations under Acquisition of assets. This code is actually a concatenation of the Object Class Code and the Object Sub Class Code. http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars/a11/current_year/s83.pdf . Appeal Materials	Data Object	Each year the actions taken by congressional committees during consideration of the DoD authorization and appropriation requests are reviewed by the DoD components and normally that review process results in the component submitting an appeal to the committee actions. Appeals may be made on the basis of dollars, quantities, manpower and/or language.
