Recognize_Revenue_016	DFMIR/FFMIA	If an entity transfers exchange revenue to other entities, in which it recognized virtually no costs (either during the current period or during past periods) in connection with earning revenue that it collects, similar recognition by other entities is appropriate. If the other entities to which the revenue is transferred also recognize virtually no costs in connection with earning the revenue, the amounts transferred to them shall not offset their gross cost in determining their net cost of operations but rather should be recognized as a financing source in determining their operating results. If the other entities to which the revenue is transferred do recognize costs in connection with earning the revenue, the amounts transferred to them should offset their gross cost in determining their net cost of operations
Recognize_Revenue_017	DFMIR/FFMIA	The system shall recognize and measure exchange revenue under the exchanged revenue standards regardless of whether the related costs are recognized.
Recognize_Revenue_018	DFMIR/FFMIA	The system shall recognize exchange revenue in determining the net cost of operations of the reporting entity during the period.
Recognize_Revenue_019	DFMIR/FFMIA	To support the Recognition of Special Cases, the system should recognize that any exchange revenue transferred to others will not affect the collecting entity's net position. Therefore, as required by the standards for other financing sources, such exchange revenue is recognized as a transfer-out in calculating the entity's operating results.

Recognize_Revenue_020	DFMIR/FFMIA	To support the Recognition of Special Cases, rents, royalties, and bonuses transferred to Treasury for the General Fund or to other Government reporting entities shall be recognized similarly by these recipient entities. The revenue is exchange revenue and shall be recognized and measured under the exchange revenue standards. However, neither the Government as a whole nor the other recipient entities recognize the natural resources as an asset and depletion as a cost. Therefore, the revenue shall not offset the cost of operations for the U.S. Government as a whole or for these entities. As in the case of MMS, offsetting cost by this revenue would distort the relationship between the net cost of operations and the measures of the performance of these entities. The exchange revenue shall instead be a financing source in determining the operating results and change in net position.
Recognize_Revenue_021	DFMIR/FFMIA	To support the Recognition of Special Cases, the budget shall require the earned revenue inflow, related to the entity's costs, to be paid to the General Fund or another entity. Reporting the transfer-out of such revenue as a reduction in net results of operations lets the responsible entity properly report its earnings in net cost of operations without increasing its net position.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_001	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must record all general PP&E at cost. Cost shall include all costs incurred to bring the PP&E to a form and location suitable for its intended use. If the General PP&E acquisition costs, including other costs necessary to bring the asset to an operable condition, do not equal or exceed DoD capitalization threshold, the costs are expensed in the period incurred.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_002	DFMIR/FFMIA	PP&E shall be recognized when title passes to the acquiring entity or when the PP&E is delivered to the entity or to an agent of the entity. In the case of constructed PP&E, the PP&E shall be recorded as construction work in process until it is placed in service, at which time the balance shall be transferred to general PP&E.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_003	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must include internal use software as General PP&E if it has a useful life of two years or more, provides a significant increase in functionality that is visible to the user (in the case of enhancements) and the cost of the software equals or exceeds the capitalization threshold. Software that is integrated into General PP&E and necessary to operate it should be considered part of the PP&E and therefore included in its full cost to be capitalized and depreciated accordingly. The capitalized costs of Commercial Off-The-Shelf (COTS) software shall be the actual purchase price, plus any costs incurred for implementation. The capitalized cost of contractor developed software shall include the amount paid to the contractor to design, program, install, and implement new software or to modify existing or COTS software, plus any costs incurred for implementation. The capitalized cost of internally developed software shall include the full cost (direct and indirect costs) incurred during the software development phase. Full cost includes the costs of new software (e.g., contract cost, salaries of programmers, systems analysts, project managers, and administrative personnel; associated employee benefits; outside consultants' fees; rent; and supplies and overhead) and technical documentation. The development of technical documentation and manuals is capitalized.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_004	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall record the cost for General PP&E acquired under a capital lease equal to the amount recognized as a liability for the capital lease at its inception, plus any cash paid or other consideration given.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_005	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall record the cost for General PP&E acquired through donation, execution of a will or judicial process excluding forfeiture, at its estimated fair value at the time acquired by the Department. The fair market value (also known as fair value) is an unbiased, equitable value based on the cost of a similar asset or the price that an impartial buyer would be willing to pay for the asset or a similar asset.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_006	DFMIR/FFMIA	The system shall record the cost for General PP&E transferred from another DoD Component or federal agency based upon the cost recorded on the transferring entity's books for the PP&E, net of any accumulated depreciation. If the receiving DoD Component cannot reasonably ascertain those amounts, the cost of the asset shall be its fair value at the time of transfer.

Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_007	DFMIR/FFMIA	The system must record the cost for General PP&E acquired through exchange between the Department and a nonfederal entity at the fair value of the PP&E surrendered at the time of exchange. If the fair value of the PP&E acquired is more readily determinable than that of the PP&E surrendered, the cost shall be the fair market value of the PP&E acquired. If the fair value cannot be determined, the cost of the PP&E acquired shall be the cost recorded for the PP&E surrendered, net of any accumulated depreciation. Any difference between the net recorded amount of the PP&E surrendered and the cost of the PP&E acquired shall be recognized as a gain or loss. In the event that cash consideration is included in the exchange, the cost of General PP&E acquired shall be increased by the amount of cash consideration surrendered or decreased by the amount of cash consideration received. If the DoD Component enters into an exchange in which the fair value of the PP&E acquired is less than that of the PP&E surrendered, the PP&E acquired shall be recognized at its cost, as described previously and subsequently reduced to its fair value. A loss shall be recognized in an amount equal to the difference between the cost of the PP&E acquired and its fair value. This guidance on exchanges applies only to exchanges between a DoD Component and a nonfederal entity. Exchanges between a DoD Component and another DoD Component or federal agency shall be accounted for as a transfer.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_008	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must record the cost of General PP&E acquired through seizure or forfeiture at fair market value, less an allowance for any liens or claims from a third party. Seized property other than monetary instruments shall be disclosed in the footnotes. The value of the seized property shall be accounted for in an agency's property management records until the property is forfeited, returned, or otherwise liquidated.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_009	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system, for constructed assets, shall record the cost to construct the asset as construction-in-progress until the asset is placed in service. All cost information transferred from the construction-in-progress account to the real property asset account at the time the asset or the capital improvement to the asset is placed in service, will be supported by the DD Form 1354. For construction projects that are completed in multiple phases, the cost of each phase is transferred from the construction-in-progress account to the real property asset account at the time the phase is placed in service. Each facility, therefore, may have one or more placed in service dates, which will be used to initiate the capitalization of each corresponding phase. Each phase shall then be depreciated separately over its estimated useful life. All additional costs incurred following the asset placed in service date shall be transferred from the construction-in-progress account to the real property asset account with the final DD Form 1354. The original acquisition cost of the asset will be adjusted for this amount and the revised amount will continue to be depreciated over the remaining useful life of the asset.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_010	DFMIR/FFMIA	If historical cost information for existing General PP&E has not been maintained, the property system must record the assets at estimated valuations and documented for reference as well as estimates for any accumulated depreciation/amortization which would have been taken had the asset been recorded at the time it was acquired. Estimates shall be based on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The costs of similar assets at the time of acquisition, or</li> <li>• The current costs of similar assets discounted for inflation since the time of acquisition (i.e., by deflating current costs to costs at the time of acquisition by the general price index).</li> </ul>
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_011	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must be able to record the value of Stewardship land in terms of physical quantities rather than in monetary values.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_012	DFMIR/FFMIA	To maintain effective property accountability and control, and for financial reporting purposes, DoD Components shall record in DoD property accountability systems detailed information on property provided to contractors, to include real property (Government-owned Contractor Operated facilities) and DoD property transferred from one contract to another contract. DoD property that was procured or fabricated by a contractor shall be accounted for and reported by the contractor until the property is recorded in DoD property accountability records or systems.

Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_013	DFMIR/FFMIA	General PP&E consists of tangible assets that must meet all of the following criteria: have an estimated useful life of two years or more, are not intended for sale in the ordinary course of operations, are acquired or constructed with the intention of being used or being available for use by the entity and have an initial acquisition cost, book value, or when applicable, an estimated fair market value that equals, or exceeds, DoD capitalization threshold.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_014	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must record General PP&E assets acquired through capital leases, including leasehold improvements.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_015	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must record General PP&E assets acquired when trading in another General PP&E asset equal to the sum of the book value of the asset traded plus any cash paid or liabilities assumed for the new asset. The book value is the recorded cost of a General PP&E asset, less its accumulated depreciation.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_016	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must record the capitalized cost of tangible equipment items of a durable nature that are used by DoD in providing goods and services in the Equipment account.

Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_020	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall expense, as incurred, all data conversion costs incurred for internally developed, contractor developed or COTS software, including the cost to develop or obtain software that allows for access or conversion of existing data to the new software. Such costs may include the purging or cleansing of existing data, reconciliation or balancing of data, and the creation of new/or additional data.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_021	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system, for internal use software, must expense all costs incurred after final acceptance testing has been successfully completed.

Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_024	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property management system must classify PP&E according to the Standard General Ledger Accounts (e.g., buildings, land, equipment, assets under capital lease, software).
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_025	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property management system must create a skeletal property record or other mechanism for capturing information on property in-trans it from the providing entity (e.g., vendor, donator, loaner, grantor, etc.). The skeletal property record or other mechanism is required only for property for which the government has taken title.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_026	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property management system must complete the skeletal property record, or create a property record for items with no skeletal property record, upon assuming possession of the item, placing the real property asset in service, or initiation of real estate instrument/grant.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_027	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property management system must capture the method of acquiring each property item or bulk property items (e.g., direct purchase, completed work-in-process, capital lease, donation, non-reciprocal transfer or reciprocal transfer), and the date of acquisition.

Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_031	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system should provide information on the status of upgrades and overhauls to property.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_032	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system should aggregate relatively homogenous assets into asset pools.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_033	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system should capture warranty/guarantee information, including terms and period of coverage.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_034	DFMIR/FFMIA	For General PP&E assets acquired by a contractor on behalf of a DoD Component (e.g., the DoD Component that will ultimately hold title to the assets), the assets shall be recognized upon delivery or constructive delivery, whether to the contractor performing the service, or to the DoD Component. Delivery or constructive delivery shall be based on the terms of the contract regarding delivery, receipt and acceptance.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_035	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall allocate the cost of software purchased as part of a package of products and services as capitalizable and non-capitalizable (expensed) costs based on a reasonable estimate of the value of the individual products or services. Costs that are not susceptible to allocation between maintenance and relatively minor enhancements should be expensed.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_036	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall capitalize bulk purchases of software programs and modules or components of a total software system that individually meet DoD capitalization threshold. If the per item cost of a bulk purchase (e.g., numerous copies of spreadsheets and word-processing programs) does not meet DoD capitalization threshold, the bulk purchase shall be expensed in the period acquired.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_037	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall capitalize the acquisition cost of enhancements to existing Internal Use Software (and modules thereof) when such costs exceed DoD capitalization threshold, and when it is more likely than not that such enhancements will result in a significant increase in functionality that is apparent to the user. The cost of routine or minor changes or modernizations that do not significantly add functionality shall be expensed in the period incurred. Also, the cost of enhanced versions of software for a nominal charge is expensed in the period incurred.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_038	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall record the applicable asset and liability amounts, for a capital lease, at lease inception. The amount to be recorded under a capital lease is the present value of the rental property and other lease payments during the lease term, excluding that portion of the payments representing executory costs such as insurance, maintenance and taxes paid to the lessor. If the present value amount, however, exceeds the fair value of the leased property at the inception of the lease, the amount recorded shall be the fair value. If the executory costs portion of the minimum lease payments cannot be determined, the amount should be estimated. In such cases, the substance of the arrangement, rather than its legal form, shall determine the accounting treatment. All other leases should be accounted for as operating leases with no balance sheet recognition.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_039	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall record the cost for General PP&E acquired by purchase from a third party (private, commercial, or government) at its purchase contract cost plus applicable ancillary costs. For purposes of this guidance, purchase includes procurements of General PP&E by cash, check, installment or progress payments on contracts, or capital lease.
Record_Acquisition_Of_PPE_040	DFMIR/FFMIA	To establish proper PP&E accountability when acquiring General PP&E from another DoD Component or federal agency, the acquiring DoD Component shall request from the transferring DoD Component or other federal agency, the necessary source documents to establish the location; original acquisition cost; cost of improvements; the date the asset was purchased, constructed, or acquired; the estimated useful life; the amount of accumulated depreciation; and the condition, if desired. If this information is not available, estimates may be necessary and must be documented.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_001	DFMIR/FFMIA	The cost of an improvement shall be capitalized only when the cost of the improvement equals or exceeds DoD capitalization threshold, regardless of funding source
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_002	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system, for capitalized property only, must generate data for the journal entries necessary for recording changes in the valuation including any associated gains or losses.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_003	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system may capitalize applicable improvements separately from the General PP&E asset improved and capture the date of the improvement.

Record_Asset_Value_Changes_004	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property management system should allocate a portion of each capital lease payment to interest expense, and the balance shall be applied to reduce the lease liability using the effective interest rate method.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_005	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property management system may identify the type of cost recorded (e.g. acquisition cost, estimated fair market value, revaluation, present value).
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_006	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall capitalize and record Bulk purchases of General PP&E that individually meet the capitalization threshold, in a property accountability system that is capable of computing depreciation or interfaces with a system that is capable of computing depreciation.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_007	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must record adjustments to property accountability records, systems and financial records for those PP&E items where the physical identification and count disclosed discrepancies.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_008	DFMIR/FFMIA	Adjustments to the general ledger accounts, to record PP&E found during the conduct of physical inventories, shall be recorded under the appropriate Standard General Ledger (SGL) accounts for PP&E (1700 series), as detailed in Section 0602 of this chapter, or for losses, under "Other Losses" (SGL Account 7290).
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_009	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must record the purchase cost of DoD-controlled buildings, improvements and renovations in the Buildings, Improvements and Renovations account (USSGL 1730). When the purchase cost cannot be determined, the property system must record the estimated fair market value of buildings and the cost of placing such assets in the form intended for use less any accumulated depreciation or amortization which would have been taken had the asset been recorded at the time it was acquired.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_010	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must record the purchase cost of DoD-controlled utilities and improvements to land and facilities not classified as buildings in the Other Structures and Facilities account (USSGL 1740). When the acquisition cost cannot be determined, the property system must record the estimated fair market value and the cost of placing such assets in the form intended for use less any accumulated depreciation or amortization which would have been taken had the asset been recorded at the time it was acquired.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_011	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system, generally, shall expense repairs to PP&E personal and real property. When repair is by replacement, the repair may be expensed or it may be capitalized. Repair by replacement that is expensed, occurs when a facility or facility component has failed, is in the incipient stages of failing or is no longer performing the functions for which it was designated. Replacements falling into this category shall be expensed. If the replacement was undertaken to improve or expand the efficiency of an asset that was in good working order, then the replacement is an improvement.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_012	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system must capitalize the cost of improvements to more than one General PP&E asset, when performed under a single contract or work order and that cannot be specifically identified by asset, only if the allocated cost per General PP&E asset equals or exceeds DoD capitalization threshold. When more than one improvement is made to a single building and the improvements are part of one overall effort to increase the building's capacity, size, or useful life; the sum of the costs of the improvements shall be capitalized, if the summed costs equal or exceed DoD capitalization threshold. This is required even when the improvements are funded separately. Once a determination has been made that the aggregate costs of the improvements will be capitalized, each improvement should be capitalized and depreciation placed in service.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_013	DFMIR/FFMIA	When a General PP&E asset is identified for other than normal removal from service, such as would be the case for assets that are part of a Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC), the property system must remove asset from the PP&E accounts, along with its associated accumulated depreciation/amortization and record in the Other General PP&E account (1890) at its net realizable value (NRV). Oftentimes the NRV will be zero. Any difference between the book value of the PP&E asset and its expected NRV shall be recognized as a gain or loss in the period of adjustment. For assets that are part of BRAC, the disposal date is the Operational closure date as established by BRAC law.

Record_Asset_Value_Changes_018	DFMIR/FFMIA	If the impaired software is to be removed from use, the property system shall measure any loss due to impairment as the difference between the book value and the net realizable value (NRV), if any.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_019	DFMIR/FFMIA	If the impaired software is to remain in use, the property system shall measure the loss due to impairment as the difference between the book value and either: 1. The cost to acquire software that would perform similar remaining functions (e.g., the unimpaired functions) or, if that is not feasible; 2. The portion of the book value attributable to the remaining functional elements of the software. The loss shall be recognized upon impairment, and the book value of the asset reduced accordingly. If neither of the above can be determined, the book value shall continue to be amortized over the remaining useful life of the software.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_020	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall not record, in the Other General PP&E account, any assets that have been removed from service and sent to a depot for storage with the intent to use the assets again in the future or for other assets taken out of service on a temporary basis. Those assets shall remain recorded in the appropriate general ledger account and shall continue to be depreciated. Normal disposal transactions shall not be processed through account 1890 and shall not be accounted for using account 5730.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_021	DFMIR/FFMIA	The property system shall recognize and measure impairment when one of the following occurs and is related to post implementation/operational software and or modules: 1. Record_Asset_Value_Changes_022	DFMIR/FFMIA	When Internal Use Software is replaced with new software, the property system shall expense the undepreciated cost of the old software when the new software successfully completes testing. The change should be accounted for during the period of the change and future periods.
Record_Asset_Value_Changes_023	DFMIR/FFMIA	When it is determined that software under development (or a module thereof) will not be completed and placed in service, the property system should reduce the related book value accumulated for the software to reflect the expected NRV, if any, and the loss recognized.

Reporting_Of_Budgetary_Resources_004	DFMIR/FFMIA	The system must support disclosing the following material budgetary information by reporting entities whose financing comes wholly or partially from the budget: Total budgetary resources available to the entity during the period, The status of those resources (including obligations incurred), and Outlays.

Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_002	DFMIR/FFMIA	Pursuant to SFFAS 5, some component entities report the liability and expense for pensions, ORB, or OPEB, while other component entities report only normal (or service) cost. The Office of Personal Management is an example of the former with respect to the Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS), and federal component entities with employees participating in FERS are examples of the latter. Component entities that report pension, ORB, or OPEB liabilities should display a discrete line item for gains and losses from changes in assumptions on its statement of net cost when the conditions in SFFAS 33 paragraphs 19-20 are met. Component entities reporting only the normal or service cost should not display such gains and losses.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_003	DFMIR/FFMIA	Component entities should disclose in notes to the financial statements a reconciliation of beginning and ending pension, ORB, and OPEB liability balances. This reconciliation must provide all material components of pension, ORB, or OPEB expense consistent with the components identified in the table immediately above, if applicable. Additional sub-components may be presented. The line item for actuarial gains and losses should be broken out into the sub-components "from experience" and "from assumptions changes." Significant pension, ORB, and OPEB programs should be presented individually in a separate column along with an "all other" column, if applicable, and a "total" column for each line item.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_004	DFMIR/FFMIA	This reconciliation must provide all material components of pension, ORB, or OPEB expense consistent with the components identified in the table immediately above, if applicable. Additional sub-components may be presented. The line item for actuarial gains and losses should be broken out into the sub-components "from experience" and "from assumptions changes." Significant pension, ORB, and OPEB programs should be presented individually in a separate column along with an "all other" column, if applicable, and a "total" column for each line item.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_005	DFMIR/FFMIA	Component entities that report pension, ORB, or OPEB liabilities should disclose the information required in SFFAS 33 paragraph 22. Component entities reporting only the normal or service cost should not disclose the information required in SFFAS 33 paragraph 22.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_006	DFMIR/FFMIA	Component entities holding non-Treasury securities as assets to fund their pension, ORB, or OPEB programs should disclose the rates of return, specific maturities, and allocation by type (stocks, bonds, etc.) of such assets.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_007	DFMIR/FFMIA	The governmentwide entity should display gains and losses from changes in assumptions as a separate line item or line items on the statement of net cost after a subtotal for all other costs and before total cost. See the pro forma illustration in SFFAS 33 Appendix B.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_008	DFMIR/FFMIA	The governmentwide entity should disclose in the notes to the financial statements a reconciliation consistent with information required in SFFAS 33 paragraph 22 above for pension, ORB, and OPEB liabilities. At a minimum, reconciliations for liabilities classified as civilian, military, and veterans compensation must be presented. See SFFAS 33 Appendix C for an example.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_009	DFMIR/FFMIA	Discount rates as of the reporting date for present value measurements of pension, ORB, and OPEB liabilities should be based on interest rates on marketable Treasury securities with maturities consistent with the cash flows being discounted. The discount rates should be matched with the expected timing of the associated expected cash flow. Thus, cash flows projected in each period should have a discount rate associated with them. However, one discount rate may be used for all projected future cash flows if the resulting present value is not materially different than the resulting present value using multiple rates. A change to or from multiple rates from or to a single rate should be disclosed.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_010	DFMIR/FFMIA	The discount rates as of the reporting date should reflect average historical rates on marketable Treasury securities rather than giving undue weight to the current or very recent past experience of such rates. Historical experience should be the basis for expectations about future trends in marketable Treasury securities. The discount rate, the underlying inflation rate, and the other economic assumptions should be consistent with one another.

AV-2 Integrated Dictionary (BEA 11.1)

Object	Type	Description	Additional Keys
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_011	DFMIR/FFMIA	In developing average historical Treasury rates, a minimum of five historical rates as of the reporting date (e.g., at the current and four prior fiscal year ends) should be used for each maturity. The historical rates used to calculate the average should be sequential (e.g., 2003-2007). For example, for an average historical Treasury rate to be used as the discount rate as of the end of fiscal year 2007 for a payment due in 10 years (i.e., in fiscal 2017), a minimum of the five most recent fiscal year-end historical rates on 10-year Treasury securities should be used. Thus, the rate on 10-year Treasury securities as of the end of fiscal year 2007 would be one of the five historical rates used in the average, the rate on 10-year Treasury securities as of the end of fiscal year 2006 would be another rate, etc., until, at a minimum, the rates on 10-year Treasury securities as of the end of fiscal years 2003 through 2007 would be included in the average.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_012	DFMIR/FFMIA	The number of historical rates used in the calculation of the average as explained in paragraph 30, e.g., five fiscal year-end rates, should be consistent from period to period. The entity's accounting policy disclosures should include its policy regarding consistency from one reporting period to the next.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_013	DFMIR/FFMIA	In the determination of the historical Treasury rates used, for cash flows that are projected to occur in future years for which Treasury securities are or were not available or that are expected beyond the maturities at which Treasury securities are available, e.g., beyond the 30-year security, the preparer should incorporate into the determination of the discount rate interest rates interpolated or extrapolated from historical Treasury rates.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_014	DFMIR/FFMIA	Estimates of pension, ORB, and OPEB liability and expense in general purpose federal financial reports should be measured as of the end of the fiscal year (or other reporting period if applicable). Measurements based on an actuarial valuation may be performed as of an earlier date during the fiscal year, including the beginning of the year, with adjustments for the effects of changes during the year in major factors such as the pay raise and cost of living adjustment. A full actuarial valuation as of the end of the reporting period is not required. Measurements should reflect the entity's assumptions about the major factors that would be reflected in a full actuarial valuation, such as the actual pay raise, the actual cost of living adjustment, and material known changes in the number of participants covered (enrollment) that cause a change in the liability.
Retired_Pay_and_Benefits_015	DFMIR/FFMIA	The valuation date in the full actuarial valuation utilized by the entity should be consistently followed from year to year.
